The Transfer Scholarship Guide for Maryland Community College Students assists transfer students in identifying and obtaining scholarships at four- year institutions. This guide is produced by the Maryland Community College Financial Aid Directors with support from Sallie Mae, Inc., and cooperation from the Office of Student Financial Assistance (Maryland Higher Education Commission), and Maryland Association of Community Colleges. The information in the guide was provided by four- year institutions and is subject to change. If a school is not listed in the guide, contact the Admissions or Financial Aid Office at that school directly to ask about transfer scholarships.

The Maryland Community College Financial Aid Directors thank Sallie Mae, Inc. for the generous grant support that made this publication possible.

TRANSFERRING MADE EASY

TRANSFER CHECKLIST

DATE COMPLETED	ACTION	COMMENTS
	Seek advice on transfer from you academic advisor during your first semester, or as soon as possible after earning 15 credits.
	Consider joining your Phi Theta Kappa Honor Society. Membership could increase your chances for scholarships.
	Keep your grades up. Most transfer scholarships will require a minimum 3.0 grade point average.
	Choose, as early as possible, the institution to which you wish to transfer and your intended major program. Request catalog, application, and transfer information from four-year colleges and universities.
	Make use of ARTSYS, a computerized method of determining the transferability of your courses. Map out your coursework in accordance with the recommended transfer program.
	Begin searching for scholarships—use online resources. Don't forget to check for Maryland State grants at www.mhec.state.md.us .
	Visit the four-year institutions of your choice; arrange a campus tour and speak to an admissions counselor.
	Complete and mail the application form with the application fee before the college's deadline.
	Apply for institutional scholarships from your transfer college. Continue other scholarship searches.
	Request all transcripts (high school and all colleges attended) and send them to the transfer colleges. You will also need to request a final copy of your transcript from HCC after you have completed all required coursework.
	Complete and send the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) by March 1 for the following academic year.
	Make an appointment with the department advisor at your chosen transfer college to discuss your major and plan your course of study.
	Participate in your college's orientation program. You may be required to take placement tests at your transfer institution. These are often given during orientation.

Electronic Tool for Transfer Students

ARTSYS is a computerized data information system which informs students and advisors at a community college about the transferability of each community college course.

In addition to providing information on course transferability, the program provides, in community college course numbers, the recommended courses for transfer to specific programs of study at participating four-year institutions.

With the ARTSYS program, students enter their transcripts into the system to determine the transferability of their courses to one or more institutions. For information, contact the transfer advisor on your community college campus.

Transfer Glossary

Credit Hour: One semester hour of credit is awarded for a minimum of 15 hours (50 minutes each) of actual class time; for 30 hours of laboratory time; or for 45 hours of instructional situations such as practice, internships, and cooperative education placements. (For example, a 3-credit lecture course meets for 45 hours – usually two or three times per week for 15 weeks.)

Native Student: A student whose initial college enrollment was at a given institution of higher education and who has not ever transferred to another institution.

Receiving Institution: The institution of higher education to which a transfer student currently desires to enroll or has enrolled.

Recommended Transfer Program: A planned program of courses, including both general education and courses in the major, taken at a community college which is applicable to a Bachelor's degree program at a receiving institution. Ordinarily, transfer credits are limited to half the Bachelor's degree program requirements.

Sending Institution: The previous institution of higher education at which a transfer student earned transferable, academic credit.

Transfer Student: A student entering an institution for the first time with transferable, academic credit earned at another college.

While the majority of our academic scholarships are awarded to first-year students, departmental scholarships sometimes become available when a student declares a major (transfer students would be eligible). In addition, Richmond meets 100% of demonstrated need in financial aid and is need-blind in admission.
