

Course Outcomes Guide

Course/Program Title: Art 203 Drawing II      Date: 2/17/10

Course/Program Team: Tom Renner

Expected Learning Outcomes

- 1. Students will create and design a series of drawing problems to be explore during the semester. At least seven drawings will be expected.
- 2. The drawing series should be the exploration of a common theme, style, idea, etc.
- 3. Students will exhibit at least one original drawing in the student exhibit.

Assessment

Final grade for this course will be based upon class attendance and the evaluation of drawing assignments. Assessment of each assignment will be based upon a rubric for each problem. Attendance is 20% of the final grade and the average of the drawing assignments is 80% of the grade.

Validation

Each assignment is assessed according to the rubric and then conferred with each student one on one. Based upon feedback from student conference, changes can be made in instruction to extend student comprehension and application of skills and concepts taught. Another tool used in the validation process is the end of semester evaluations which give an honest appraisal on the part of the student of what is happening in the course.

Results

Based upon the student conferences, students can receive more individual instruction to fit their personal needs and extend their insights and ability to solve the problems given.

Follow-up

Based upon the successes and failures of each class each semester, changes are made where necessary, to improve student learning and success.

Budget Justification

Certainly studio supplies are a regular expense. What we need most is quality studio space and equipment that at the current time are woefully lacking. As we continue to have growing numbers and demand for our classes, the college needs to consider adding full-time faculty in the visual arts. There is no reason why HCC should not have less than a superior art department in the state of Maryland and in the surrounding areas. With the county having a high school for the arts, our college should be prepared to offer the same high quality instruction in a high quality facility. ATC 211 is not that facility!
