

	Outcome #1
Key in learning outcomes in the cells to the right.	Students will have the necessary skills and credits to enter a four-year art program, select graphic design as their major, and commence studies at the sophomore level
Course Name/Section Number

GDT 116	Digital imaging is one of the skills necessary
GDT 142	Vector based software is one of the skills necessary
GDT 143	Page layout is one of these skills necessary
GDT 146	Students will apply the visual elements and principles to design projects
GDT 215	Students will apply the visual elements and principles to design projects that focus on a knowledge of typesetting and typography
GDT 246	Students will apply the visual elements and principles to design projects on a more advanced level

Program Name:

Outcome #2	Outcome #3	Outcome #4
Students will have applied software and hardware skills to solve introductory visual design problems	Students will create a CD + a web site that demonstrates those skills	Student will be able to write a "design brief" which explains the project, what they were trying to achieve and how they have accomplished this using the
Learn to use Photoshop & the scanner for graphic design applications	Projects created for graphic design I may be of quality for their portfolio	Grading requires the student to describe what the visual intent is for some projects
Learn to use Illustrator for graphic design applications	Projects created for graphic design I may be of quality for their portfolio	Grading requires the student to describe what the visual intent is for some projects
Learn to use InDesign for graphic design applications	Projects created for page layout may be of quality for their portfolio	Grading requires the student to describe what the visual intent is for some projects
Students will use the software and hardware to design projects	Projects created for graphic design I may be of quality for their portfolio	Grading requires the student to describe what the visual intent is for some projects
Students will use the software and hardware to design projects that focus on the use of color	Projects created for typography may be of quality for their portfolio	Grading requires the student to describe what the visual intent is for some projects
Students will use the software and hardware to design projects	Projects created for graphic design II may be of quality for their portfolio	Grading requires the student to describe what the visual intent is for some projects

Outcome #5

Students will have taken many of the “first year foundation art courses” that a student in a four-year is expected to complete prior to selecting their area of

Students may use skills acquired in drawing, 2D, 3D or photography in graphic design projects

Students may use skills acquired in drawing, 2D, 3D or photography in graphic design projects

Students may use skills acquired in drawing, 2D, 3D or photography in graphic design projects

Students may use skills acquired in drawing, 2D, 3D or photography in graphic design projects

Students may use skills acquired in drawing, 2D, 3D or photography in graphic design projects

Students may use skills acquired in drawing, 2D, 3D or photography in graphic design projects
