Course Title: ADJ 200: Criminal Procedure, 3 credits; Date: 17 Spring

Course Team: Meredith Dominick

Expected Learning Outcomes

1. Learn to analyze and consider constitutional issues and concepts as applied to criminal law.
2. Explore the multitude of 4th Amendment restraints on search and seizure and who these are applied to criminal procedure, from initial contact through prosecution.
3. Understand the 5th Amendment rights against self-incrimination and the procedures in place to protect them.
4. Learn to identify issues of due process including legal representation and identification procedures

Assessment (How do or will students demonstrate achievement of each outcome?)

The assessment of outcomes occurs through quizzes and exams. In addition, the outcomes are assessed through the production of homework assignments which come from critical thinking questions at the end of each chapter from the text.

The decision to use these questions to assess the three outcomes was through discussions with prior criminal justice professors at HCC as well as with current faculty and adjunct faculty members.

Validation (What methods have you used or will you use to validate your assessment?)

Results (What do your assessment data show? If you have not yet assessed student achievement of your learning outcomes, when is assessment planned?)

Assessment will be conducted at the conclusion of the fall semester

Follow-up (How have you used or how will you use the data to improve student learning?)

This course has undergone radical changes to include a new text book, new faculty both full time and adjunct. This course is currently being reevaluated in its entirety for assessment, validation, results and follow up. The updated and more current textbook alone is going to improve student learning, however results are not known at this time. Updated tools are being put into place.

Budget Justification (What resources are necessary to improve student learning?)
